

This tutorial is in response to some emails I have received about using both the point and click movement system and simple animation with keyframes. Correct character going through floor and create cleaner keyframe animation.
Beginners level.